HEAVY BATTING AND MCCORRY'S PITCHING DEFEAT OGDEN

A fair sized crowd of baseball fans saw the Spokane Indians get a little larger "goat" from Ogden than Ogden got from them the day before, the score being 11 to 5. Ogden used four pitchers during the game against two for Spokane and they were needed, too, as the Indians had their batting eyes and slanted the sphere with a right good will.

Features of the game were a triple play for which "Swede" Risberg was responsible, the all around classy playing of Pitcher McCorry for Spokane, and the closing of two innings—the eighth and ninth—with 11 balls pitched by Hall of Ogden. Another feature, by the way, which pleased the fans, was the coaching by Wuffli, the peppy third baseman, who has made a big hit in Ogden.

Ballinger started on the mound for Ogden and proved easy picking for the vengeful Indians. From his delivery in three innings, they hit six times, and made seven runs. The fans are not worried about Ballinger, as they know his class when in condition. He was replaced by Lemley, who stayed three innings, allowing four hits and one run. "Bricky" Greenwell, the local amateur, was given a tryout in the seventh, but went back to the bench with five hits and three runs chalked up against him. "Bricky" needs no by discouraged, however, as it is pretty tough luck for a green hand to go into a game in the seventh inning with an 8 to 2 score against his team and the other team with their appetites whetted for more hits. Hall took the mound in the eighth and was assisted in getting a no-hit record by good fielding himself and edged support from his team mates.

McCorry, for Spokane, pitched a splendid game, allowing only two hits and one run in five innings. In the sixth he was replaced by Sharron, a tall, rangy left-handed recruit, who is making his first appearance as a professional. The Ogden players got so him safe 8 times in 4 innings, and made 5 runs.

Paul Cobb, Ogden's promising young center fielder, made his first appearance in a uniform this season, in the sixth, amid the cheers of the fans. He batted for Lemley and fanned.

The game by innings was as follows:

First Inning—Powell hit to left field for two bases, Butler and Wagner were thrown out at first. Lynch got a single, bringing in Powell. Goldie singled, Kelley followed suit, his grounder slipping through Roseback and on the error, Goldie and Lynch scored and Kelley went to third. Wuffli flew out to Risberg, Ogden's half closed with only one man reaching first base.

Second Inning—Nelson and McCorry each got a single, Powell advanced them a base each with a sacrifice and Butler singled, scoring them both. Wagner and Lynch went out on flies to Carnes and Risberg. In this inning Butler stole second.

Ogden was again blanked.

Third Inning—Goldie went out, Carnes to Woolums. Kelley went to first on an error by Risberg and Wuffli got a single. Nelson singled, scoring Kelley, Wuffli was out at third and Nelson managed to go to second. McCorry bunted, the bunt being taken by Seabough who threw wild, Nelson scoring, and McCorry going to second. Powell got to first on Carnes' error and Seabough caught Butler's foul tip.

Ogden went out again—one, two, three.

Fourth Inning—Lemley took the mound, replacing Ballinger. Wagner went out, Jones to Woolums. Goldie flew out to Risberg. Lemley hit Lynch, sending him to first. Kelley singled and Butler was given his base on balls. With the bases full, Lemley tightened up and fanned Nelson, retiring the side.

For Ogden, Risberg, Woolums and Roseback struck out.

Fifth Inning—McCorry singled and stole second. Powell fanned. Lemley sent over a wild one and McCorry went to third. Butler hit to Jones and was out at first and McCorry scored. Wagner struck out.

Ogden went in to do things and got one run in its half. Wessler, first up, went back to the bench, Seabough got a two-bagger and Raedel was put in to run for him. Lemley singled to Butler and Raedel went to third. Anheir forced Lemley at second, and Raedel went home. Carnes got to first on an error by Wuffli and Roseback's pop-up was caught by Butler.

Sixth Inning—Wagner whiffed. Lynch singled to Wessler, Goldie walked. Kelley died on a fly to Carnes. Wuffli sent a grounder to Woolums, which was too hard for the Ogden first baseman to handle, and he was safe at first. This filled the bases, but Nelson flew out to Roseback and McCorry hit an easy one to Woolums, retiring the side.

Sharron replaced McCorry on the mound. Jones singled and, on a wild pitch, went to second. Wooly fanned and Risberg walked. Wessler was out at first. Seabough singled to Wuffli, who made a fine stop, but threw wild to first. Risberg got caught off second, but beat Wuffli out to third and in the mixup, Jones scoring. Cobb, batted for Lemley, and fanned.

Seventh Inning—Greenwell replaced Lemley. Powell hit to right field for three bags. Butler singled to Wessler and Wagner singled to Risberg, scoring Powell. On the hit, Butler went to second and tried to make third. Risberg threw to Jones and the third baseman ran Butler down on his way back to second. Lynch sent a two-bagger to the east fence. Goldie went out, Greenwell to Woolums. Kelley walked and Wuffli singled to right, and Lynch scored. Wessler caught Nelson's fly and Ogden went to bat.

Anheir struck out. Carnes singled and Roseback followed suit. Jones singled and Roseback was thrown out.

at second, while Carnes went to third. Woolums walked, filling the bases, but Risberg was thrown out at first. Eighth Inning—Hall and Raedel replaced Greenwell and Seabough. In this inning, that rare accomplishment—a triple—was staged. McCorry hit Hall's first offering to right field and landed safely on first. Powell singled to Carnes. Butler slammed a high liner toward Risberg, which the "Swede" reached up and got with one hand, threw to Carnes and Carnes threw to Woolums, catching McCorry and Powell.

Wessler flew out. Raedel fanned. Hall got to first on an error and Anheir flew out to Wagner.

Ninth Inning. Wagner hit to Hall and was retired at first, and Lynch did the same thing and was treated the same way. Goldie hit to Woolums and Hall covered first, scoring two assists and a putout.

Ogden went in for a final mighty effort and pulled out with four runs in her half. Carnes singled to Lynch. Roseback did likewise to Wagner, and Jones went to first on an error. Carnes being forced out at third. Woolums hit a single through Wuffli and Risberg glorified himself again by hitting out a three-bagger, scoring Jones and Woolums. Risberg scored on a passed ball and Wessler went out on a fly to Powell.

WENDELL JAMES TO SHOW BRITISHERS HE CAN BEST THEIR CHAMPION

(James I. Wendell taking the leap nicely in the high hurdles.)

New York, N. Y., March 21.—James I. Wendell, who won the 220-yards high and low hurdles for Wesleyan at the intercollegiate meeting last year, is contemplating a trip to England. Wendell wants to invade the tight little isle for the purpose of convincing a number of stubborn Englishmen that B. R. L. Anderson, the British champion, is not the greatest hurdler in the world. At the last Olympic games, Wendell stumbled in making the ninth hurdle, he lost his stride but managed to finish second to Fred Kelly, the California flyer. Anderson fell in the same race and the Englishmen did not hesitate to say that their man would have run away from the Yankees but for his accident.

LINE-UP OF ENGLISH POLO CONTESTANTS

London, April 4.—Although it is a bit early for speculation regarding the make up of the polo team for the international matches, a probable combination has already been picked from among the Englishmen now at practice in Madrid. This team is composed of Captain H. A. Tomkinson as No. 1, Major F. W. Barrett as No. 2, Captain Vivian Lockett as No. 3 and Captain C. F. Hume as back.

According to present plans, the players will return to England about the first of May, when a half dozen matches will be played with a team captained by Walter C. Buckmaster. This team will probably consist of R. N. Grenfell, Captain Freake and Lord Wodehouse.

RICE OPPOSES FOUR-MILE RACE

Gruelling Contest Too Severe For American Oarsmen and Training Time Too Short.

New York, N. Y., April 4.—James C. Rice, coach of rowing at the Columbia university since 1906, is continuing his fight against the four-mile race at the intercollegiate regatta, held every June over the Hudson river course at Poughkeepsie.

Rice's opposition to the four-mile race, according to a statement he recently issued, is due to the fact that American oarsmen get but little time to train for such a gruelling contest and as a result are not in the proper shape to row such a distance without serious injury. In contrast to this condition here, Rice called attention to the situation in England. There the men train for years, the boys learning to row while in the grammar schools. As a result when they enter the university they are finished oarsmen, trained and hardened to withstand long races. Here the men have but a few months' preparation and most of the men never row a stroke until they enter college.

Too Arduous for Boys.

Rice says that younger men are now found on the crews than was formerly the rule. In fact, most of the members of the crew are mere boys, who have not yet attained their full maturity and the arduous season of training culminating in a race which calls for every ounce of physical exertion he is able to put forward does more injury than good to the lad.

The fact that the regatta always comes in June is another thorn in the flesh of Rice. He argues that June is very often the hottest part of the summer and that a man cannot do his best work with the thermometer around 90 degrees. The great English races come in March or early April, when it is cooler.

Rice's plans to reduce the race to three miles and hold it earlier in the year is not approved by the coaches of other colleges, who send their crews to the regatta.
